

PLUMPTON COLLEGE at Flimwell

Woodland Archaeology

23 February 2012

Plumpton College

Woodland Archaeology

Learn how to identify archaeological features in woodland on a one day course organised by Woodnet and Plumpton College at Flimwell.

You will learn about the importance of archaeology in woodlands and identify features including saw pits, iron workings, charcoal sites and boundary banks. Using the woodland at Flimwell, you will learn how to measure, survey and record archaeological features.

The course is led by David Brown of South East Woodland Archaeology Forum and is aimed at anyone with an interest in woodland archaeology.

The next course is 23 February 2012
10.00 – 4.30 at the Woodland Enterprise
Centre, Flimwell, East Sussex, TN5 7PR.

Course fee £90

If you work in farming, forestry or production horticulture in the South East, you may be eligible for a subsidised fee of £27 – please enquire when booking.
